This has gone on long enough. Let Microsoft be. This company has help more people then any company I know ( like job creation)

I am a computer net work engineer with a bank. This lawsuit is all about the other companies that are jealous of Microsoft's success and everyone knows it. there're companies that are larger and have more anti trust issues that Microsoft. but it always easier to go after the richest man in the world so we can bring him down to earth. Is this what's capitalism is all about
